DESCRIPTION

The Ursuit® Märket+ shell jacket takes its name from the legendary lighthouse located in the Sea of Åland – a symbol of reliability in even the harshest conditions. The jacket is made from the trusted Ursuit® 4-Tex material, known from Ursuit® Easy+ and Gemino Operative drysuits, where it has proven its performance in demanding environments. This lightweight, breathable, fully waterproof and windproof material provides excellent protection against wind and water while efficiently transporting moisture away from the body.

The jacket's cut is designed with mobility and comfort as top priorities, making Märket+ an excellent choice for active boating, fishing, and outdoor activities in all weather conditions. The redesigned high collar features a soft fleece lining for added comfort against the skin while providing effective protection from cold winds. A stowable storm hood is integrated inside the collar and can be quickly deployed when extra protection is needed in rough conditions.

New zippered ventilation openings improve airflow and help maintain comfort in warmer weather or during high-intensity activity.

The Märket+ shell jacket features spacious chest pockets with splash-proof zippers that are easy to access. Inside the jacket, a zippered pocket provides safe storage for a phone or other valuables. Removable reflectors on the sleeves and back of the collar improve visibility in dark conditions.

Ursuit® Märket+ is a shell jacket designed for those who spend an active life on the water and need reliable protection, comfort, and practical functionality in all conditions.
